Second Homily

Dear Parish Family of St. Thomas,

Congratulations are in order for St. Thomas of Villanova's latest individual to become an Eagle Scout. James Del Re recently celebrated this special achievement with his troop and his family. He completed all of the necessary requirements and expectations. If you remember awhile ago, his Eagle Scout project was to collect, disassemble and ship good used bikes to Botswana, Africa. He collected 120 bikes of which 50 were donated by our parishioners in that weekend collection in our parking lot. Thank you for your response. And thank you to Jim Del Re for caring and sharing for others. Congratulations, Jim! We are proud of you!

One of the objectives of Scouting, duty to others, is readily expressed in the following:

Our Friendship to those who need it.
Our Love to those close to us.
Our Thanks to those who deserve it.
Our Encouragement to those who are unsure.
Our Support to those who seek it.
Our Respect to those who have earned it.
Our Understanding to those whose views differ.
Our Comfort to those who grieve.
Our Time to causes we deem worthy.

These are gifts we can all afford to give whether or not we are a scout! None is beyond our means, none has to be gift-wrapped, and none need to be exchanged for size or color preference. A gift of oneself is precious not only to the recipient, but enriches the giver as well. May we Catholics live out our faith—it is our duty to God and others.

I thank all of you who contributed to our Second Collection for FOSTOVS—Friends Of St. Thomas Of Villanova School—last weekend. FOSTOVS has been able to provide many "extras" for our wonderful school because of the generosity of you and many others. If you forgot your FOSTOVS envelope and still have it, you can drop it off in our collection basket, or at the Parish Office or mail it directly to them. They will soon provide us with a financial report of the amount of the Second Collection.

Thank you to all who bring back a bulletin from your travels and Church Mass attendance. One of the bulletins came from Upper Michigan in the Diocese of Gaylord. The bulletin was a bulletin for four parishes, and it indicated that it had one Pastor for all four. Another bulletin came from Northern Wisconsin—town of Bayfield diocese of Superior. The bulletin showed that there are five parishes in the neighboring towns. And their Pastor is Pastor of all five parishes. "Shortage of Priests" - as we say! We need to "Renew My Church."

Your Pastor,
Father Tom
Rev. Thomas R. Rzepiela

P.S. If many of us appeared tired, it's because some of us had a fun but grueling golf game on Friday.

P.P.S. I will let you know next weekend who won—and who needs to practice more!

To the Friends I've Known

Recently, reading Commonweal magazine, I was struck by this line by Jerry Ryan, a Little Brother of Jesus: "I have lost contact with so many people who meant a lot to me at different stages of my life, people I loved dearly and really cared for and who had given me so much and made me what I am."

That's so true for me and, I suspect, for most of us. People enter our lives, friendships develop, and then some of those friends disappear from our lives. Sometimes we move away, sometimes they move away, sometimes things change and we drift apart, or sometimes the affective bonds that held us together disintegrate and they, and we, move on. To the degree that we're sensitive, there's always some pain and guilt in this. It's not an unhealthy thing to feel the loneliness of that loss, nor is it unhealthy to feel that somehow we've failed and been less than attentive.

Indeed sometimes we have been less than faithful, but mostly the blame for that (to the extent that some applies) lies inside our inculpable inadequacy. Only God is adequate. Only God has a heart big enough to be attentive to everyone personally and intimately at the same time. Only God never moves away or grows tired. And only God has the strength to forever be faithful. We cannot not be inadequate.

I struggle mightily with that inadequacy. Being a missionary, given the work I do, and given the quirks of my personality, I find myself perennially overwhelmed by my inadequacy in the area of staying close to family and friends, including very dear friends. The task isn't easy.

First, I come from a very large family which through the generations has expanded into a virtual tribe. It could be a fulltime job just staying in touch with family. Next, I've been ministering for more than forty years and during that time have lived inside various Oblate houses with almost two hundred different people. Community is family and, again, it would be a fulltime task just staying in meaningful touch with them all. Then, during my years of doing graduate work, I had the privileged opportunity to develop long-lasting friendships with a number of classmates from different parts of the world. Finally, during all those years of ministry, I've met hundreds of students in classrooms and thousands of people doing workshops and retreats. Most of those encounters were temporary and casual, but through the years a good number of meaningful friendships developed there as well. And, while all this was happening, I've lived and worked in four different countries and made friends in each of those places.

Then today there's the further struggle to stay in touch with all the contacts that one necessarily has to deal with on social media.

How does one keep meaningful contact with everyone? How does one not betray friends by simple neglect?

Even as I'm deeply thankful to have so rich a treasury of family and friends, not infrequently I'm overwhelmed with the task of staying in meaningful contact with them and at those times I feel some guilt about forever being out of touch with so many people I was once close to. Sometimes friends whom I have been out of touch with remind me, and not always delicately, of my neglect of our friendship. But as the years go by and the problem grows larger rather than smaller, I am making more peace with my inadequacy and guilt – if not always with some of my neglected friends.

What helps is to remind myself constantly of what a great grace it is to have so large a family and to have such a large number of friends. There are few things for which to be more grateful. Next, I do try to stay in meaningful touch with them to the extent that time, energy, and distance allow. Most importantly, though, given my inadequacy, I try to meet my family and friends at a place where time, energy, and distance are eclipsed by an immediate, intimate presence. There's one place where we're not inadequate, where we can be at more places than one at the same time and where we can love countless people individually and intimately, namely, inside the Body of Christ.

Scripture tells us that, as believers, we form together a body that, as much as any living body, is a true living organism, with all parts affecting all other parts. Inside that body we're present to each other, not fully consciously of course, but deeply, truly, actually. And to the extent that we're living our lives faithfully and sharing honest friendship and fellowship with those who are immediately around us, we're not only healthy enzymes helping bring health to the body, we're also present to each other, affectively, in a way that touches us at the deepest level of our souls There is a place where we are not neglecting each other.

And so, to all my friends: we're still together!

MASS INTENTION OPENINGS

Our 8:00am Mass intentions have many openings. Although the most common Mass intention is in memory of someone who has died, a "special intention" Mass can be offered for many reasons, such as:

- Birthday
- Anniversary
- Special need (Like illness, surgery, military deployment, etc.)

To have a Mass offered on these occasions can be more appreciated and unique than flowers, money or gifts. If you would like to have a Mass celebrated for someone alive or deceased, just stop in the Parish Office or call 847-358-6999. The suggested offering is $10.00. A card with the date of the Mass can be provided, if you wish.

HOME-DELIVERED MEAL VOLUNTEERS

Catholic Charities provides a daily hot meal Monday through Friday to homebound seniors throughout Maine Township. We are looking for a few good persons to deliver meals and help to ensure our seniors can remain at home. Can you help?

Meals are prepared fresh each morning and ready to be picked up at 10:30 a.m. at 1717 Rand Road, Des Plaines. Each route has around 12 to 16 clients and takes no more than 2 hours to complete. A commitment of one day each week is greatly appreciated.

Call 847-797-5350, leave your name and number and we will call you back.

ON FEEDING MIRACLES

Per the English author Samuel Butler, “All the works of nature are miracles, and nothing makes them appear otherwise but our familiarity with them.” OK. But per the French philosopher Montaigne, “Miracles arise from our ignorance of nature, not from nature.” One viewpoint puts overlooked miracles all around us while the other holds that some things seem miraculous only because we don’t understand them. I put myself in the former camp, along with Thoreau (“Men talk about Bible miracles because there is no miracle in their lives. Cease to gnaw on that crust. There is ripe fruit over your head”) and Whitman, too, I think (“All the things of the universe are perfect miracles…”).

In the context of miracles, there’s a well-known maxim in the news business: When a dog bites a man that is not news, but when a man bites a dog that is news. Pretty much everyone has heard it, and according to one online site anyway, it’s been attributed to various newspaper men. Miracle-wise, the maxim reminds me of something Thomas Paine, the English-born American political theorist observed in his work The Age of Reason: “The story of the whale swallowing Jonah, though a whale is large enough to do it, borders greatly on the marvelous, but it would have approached nearer to the idea of a miracle if Jonah had swallowed the whale…”

This is Miracle-X-Four Day in the sense that today’s Gospel passage-- the familiar accounting of Jesus feeding the five thousand--is the only miracle cited by all four Evangelists. Do they tell it the same? Yes and no. The story’s core is unchanged throughout the four accounts, but I find one alternative detail interesting. In Matthew’s, Mark’s, and Luke’s accounts, the disciples approach Jesus with the problem of all those hungry people coming at them. In John’s account, though, the concern flows the other way around. Here when Jesus raises his eyes and sees the crowd pressing in, he says to Philip, “Where can we buy enough food for them to eat?” Jesus already knows the answer…

Oh. And one more thing. Only John specifies that the meager food offering mentioned by each of the Evangelists comes from a boy. In response to Christ’s question today, Philip balks at the notion of buying food for the masses, but Andrew answers, “There is a boy here who has five barley loaves and two fish,” while at the same time wondering, “but what good are these for so many?” The multiplication of the loaves speaks to the Eucharist banquet, but it also speaks to me today of being childlike in the sense that Jesus often says we should be. What can I do? I’m just a kid… What can I do? I’m just one person… What can I do? I’m just a (fill in the blank)… Perhaps we can’t do much on our own to change the world, but the guy who walks on water, cures the sick, and raises the dead is on our side. I believe that when we bring our gifts--meager though they may be--to the Christ, he finds a way to multiple them. “Man Swallows Whale” may in fact be a great news story, but “Man Builds Up Kingdom” is the headline--and the miracle--I’m after.

XVII NIEDZIELA ZWYKŁA – Ufność

'Zostaw ludzi w spokoju […], nie staraj się otwierać im oczu. Gdybyś im otworzył oczy – cóż by zobaczyli? Własną nędzę! Niech więc mają oczy zamknięte… I niech dalej śnią!' – mówi jeden z bohaterów powieści Grek Zorba Nikosa Kazantzakisa. I po chwili zastanowienia dodaje: 'Chyba że, gdy otworzą oczy, pokażesz im lepszy świat niż ciemności, w których poruszają się teraz… Pokażesz?'.

Pokusa 'złożenia broni' i rezygnacji jest dziś mocna pośród chrześcijan… Czy jesteśmy jeszcze w stanie przeciwstawić się współczesnej mentalności, która nauczyła się obywać bez Boga…? Czy chcemy tego? I czy potrafimy pokazać lepszy świat i dać nową nadzieję…? Jezus, pytając Filipa, jak zdobyć tyle chleba, by nakarmić tłumy, wystawił uczniów na próbę. Wiedząc, że mają za mało pieniędzy, wymaga od nich tego co po ludzku niemożliwe. Jednak ta przyjęta z wiarą bezradność uczniów okazała się możliwością objawienia się Bożej mocy…

Dziękujemy!

Opuściłem niedzielną mszę. Muszę od razu iść do spowiedzi?

Warto pamiętać: jeśli wiesz, że w niedzielę nie dasz rady, to możesz iść na mszę w sobotę wieczorem. Ale tu pojawia się pytanie: czy musi to być msza świąteczna z niedzieli? Czyli z hymnem 'Chwała na wysokości', dwoma czytaniami przed Ewangelią i wyznaniem wiary?

W chrześcijaństwie nie chodzi w pierwszym rzędzie o spełnianie norm moralnych. Bycie chrześcijaninem polega przede wszystkim na życiu życiem danym nam przez Chrystusa. To życie jest darem Boga i do Niego należy 'dystrybucja' tego daru oraz ustalanie zasad na jakich się ona odbywa.

'Koncepcję' tę Zbawiciel wyłożył swoim uczniom, a oni przekazali ją następnym pokoleniom i nic nowego się tu nie wymyśli. Są to sakramenty, a zwłaszcza ten, który nazywamy Najświętszym Sakramentem, czyli Eucharystia.

Pomysł dyspensowania się od cotygodniowego powracania do źródła życia jest chybiony i śmiertelnie niebezpieczny. Jasne, że Pana Boga sakramenty nie 'ograniczają' i ma możliwość zbawić także tego, kto nigdy do nich nie przystępował, ani o nich nie słyszał. Ale dobrowolna rezygnacja i lekceważenie tak pewnego i darmo ofiarowanego środka do zbawienia zakrawa nie tylko na głupotę i pychę, ale i na grubą niewdzięczność.

Niedzielna Eucharystia nie jest więc dla chrześcijan aktywnością fakultatywną. Obowiązek uczestnictwa we mszy w dni świąteczne nie jest ludzkim wymysłem. Kościół wyprowadza go nie tylko z trzeciego punktu Dekalogu, w którym mowa o święceniu dnia świętego, ale także ze słów samego Jezusa: 'Jeżeli nie będziecie spożywali Ciała Syna Człowieczego i nie będziecie pili Krwi Jego, nie będziecie mieli życia w sobie' (J 6, 53).

Rezygnując z niedzielnej Eucharystii nie tylko poważnie łamię jedno z trzech pierwszych przykazań Bożych i pierwsze spośród kościelnych, ale na własne życzenie dokonuję duchowego samobójstwa. Dobrowolnie zrywam swoją więź z Chrystusem i odcinam się od źródła życia.

By do niego wrócić i móc w pełni uczestniczyć w Eucharystii przyjmując Komunię potrzebuję najpierw naprawić tę więź w sakramencie pokuty i pojednania.

A jeśli nie mogę być na mszy?

Nad argumentami z serii 'nie chce mi się' i 'nudzi mi się' nie ma się co rozczulać. Jeśli chodzi o 'nie czuję, by to mi coś dawało', to Pan Jezus nie mówi: 'będziesz albo nie będziesz czuł', ale: 'będziesz albo nie będziesz miał życia…'

Zdarzają się jednak sytuacje, w których uczestnictwo w niedzielnej mszy świętej jest niemożliwe czy bardzo utrudnione. Jest ich wiele i nie sposób je wszystkie tutaj omówić. Inna jest sytuacja obłożnie chorego, inna opiekujących się nim, inna kogoś, komu dotrzeć do kościoła jest trudno czy niewygodnie, inna również, gdy jest to fizycznie niemożliwe.

Jeśli rzeczywiście nie mogę, bo nie mam jak, to moja nieobecność – choć pozostaje z uszczerbkiem dla życia duchowego – grzechem nie jest. Grzechem nie może być coś, na co nie mam wpływu, bo grzech polega na przeciwnej Bogu decyzji.

W tych wszystkich sytuacjach warto jednak starać się jak najuczciwiej odpowiedzieć sobie na pytanie, czy rzeczywiście i naprawdę w żaden sposób nie mogę dotrzeć na mszę, czy też w którymś momencie rezygnuję z poniesienia związanego z tym trudu (dystansu, niedogodności, organizacji czasu) bo stwierdzam, że 'nie warto'. Może trzeba zapytać samego siebie: Czego nie jest warte życie, które daje mi Jezus?

Msza w sobotę wieczorem

Kościół wychodzi naprzeciw potrzebom tych, którym uczestnictwo w mszy w dzień świąteczny sprawia jakikolwiek kłopot. Robi to na tyle, na ile może, bo sakramenty nie stanowią jego własności, a jedynie powierzony mu przez Chrystusa depozyt.

Kodeks Prawa Kanonicznego, który reguluje zasady życia katolików również w kwestiach związanych z korzystaniem z sakramentów stwierdza: 'Nakazowi uczestniczenia we Mszy Świętej czyni zadość ten, kto bierze w niej udział, gdziekolwiek jest odprawiana w obrządku katolickim, bądź w sam dzień świąteczny, bądź też wieczorem dnia poprzedzającego' (KPK kan. 1248 §1).

Zatem jeśli wiem, że nie dam naprawdę rady dotrzeć do kościoła w niedzielę, mogę spokojnie zrobić to w sobotę wieczorem. Z powyższego zapisu wynika też, że nie musi to być msza sprawowana z formularza niedzielnego, czyli z hymnem 'Chwała na wysokości', dwoma czytaniami przed Ewangelią i wyznaniem wiary. Nawet jeśli będzie to zwykła wieczorna 'sobotnia' msza, uczestnicząc w niej spełniam ów życiodajny – w gruncie rzeczy naprawdę niezbyt forsowny – obowiązek…
